

Draper Round Table Event

OOCL Logistics is very delighted to sponsor the UK leading business-to-business magazine, Drapers, to put together a special "China Report". The report contains 13 pages and is the result of a project study in collaboration with the key senior British retailers. The report covers the following headings as British Fashion Brands look to expand into the lucrative Chinese retail market:

- Understanding the Chinese consumer
- China's Retail hotspots
- Establishing brand entry
- China's challenges for British retailers
- The Logistics' dilemma

In forming the report, Drapers brought together a group of the most influential fashion retailers for a round table event to discuss prominent challenges and future retailing in China at the Mandarin Oriental Hotel in London's Knightsbridge.

OOCL Logistics were represented at the event by KEN SO (Director of Sales, HK), MARK RICKETT (Assistant General Manager, UK) and SAMANTHA SHERMAN (General Manager, UK). Senior Managers and Brand Experts from companies such as Joules, Karen Millen, Agent Provocateur, Hawes and Curtis, Debenhams and The Cambridge Satchel Company were present.

The full final report is now available as a free PDF downloadable here. In addition, a summary of the report was also featured in the hard copy weekly edition and also via 'DrapersOnline' here.

This roundtable event allows OOCL Logistics and top UK retailers to discuss challenges and exchange ideas face-to-face. Based on our expertise and long term experiences in China, we offered useful inputs regarding the key considerations when starting online presence with platform like Tmall or physically opening stores in Tier 1 and Tier 2 cities.

Payment Audit Service

People always notice incorrect charge items on own credit card statements, but imagine if you had hundreds or thousands of monthly transactions to review. Would it still be as easy?

course of a year, can equate to thousands of dollars. Importers who do not have the resources to properly audit their ocean charges run the risk of substantial overpayments.

with built-in audit policies designed to fit many businesses and audit requirements. Many years of logistics industry knowledge and experience were incorporated into PAS to allow for point and click audit process customization.

Even a small volume importer will tell you, ocean invoice volumes for incoming import shipments can be huge and validation of the amounts that should be paid is a time-consuming process. Ensuring that the correct amount has been charged for the actual service provided can be an almost insurmountable task.

With PAS, no extra staffing was required to manually check invoices and the PAS generated detailed error log is sent directly their carriers for review and billing correction. Invoice processing can easily be streamlined, in a more efficient and effective way.

In some situations, the incorrect charges on carrier invoices, over the
