Taking Proactive Approach in Vietnam

OOCL Logistics regularly explores optimal solutions to satisfy the demand of worldwide customers while consistently enhancing efficiency in our business processes. As a leading logistics service provider, we anticipate changes and quickly respond to the market trend and new regulations in this evolving environment. We aim to offer responsive and flexible logistics to our customers based on their needs.

On 19 April 2019, the Prime Minister decided to implement new restrictions on the importation of used machinery, equipment, and technological to Vietnam. This new regulation ensures that manufacturing equipment and machinery remain efficient, safe, and reduce environmental footprint. In addition to the detailed information on the procedures for the importation, regulations of the inspection operation, and special instances, the decision includes new criteria for the importation as follows:

- Accordance with the national technical standards and regulations in production
- Compliance with Vietnam's National Standards on safety, energy saving, and environment protection
- Use of capacity and energy
- Consumption of materials and energy
- Status of transference
- Number of Production bases in countries of OECD
- Time of importation

Regulation compliance is an integral part of our business operation. We take a proactive role to ensure that our innovative services meet the guidelines of each country and national agency. Our adherence to Vietnam's new restrictions on the importation of used machinery, equipment, and technological lines, shows our responsiveness to change, propelling us to advance our international portfolio as a professional logistics expert.

Before the regulation's effective date of June 15th, 2019, OOCL Logistics had already utilized the latest supply chain strategies to adapt to the new changes. We frequently review our business strategies and objectives to factor in the actual and anticipated influences. We will devise the ideal solutions that are suitable to the customers' needs and meet the regulatory requirements.

OOCL Logistics will continue to comply with the regulatory requirements as well as acting with integrity and accountability to serve our customers.

MARKET TALK

The OOCL Logistics strives to explore the utilization of IT technology in logistics industry and investigate how to speed the traditional processes in managing a supply chain. OOCL Logistics has tested an advanced Internet-based IT tool, called “Booking Agent” in Ningbo, which connected to Hai Heng Lan, a Ningbo Internet service provider’s logistics agent service platform. This cutting-edge system collaboration provided results that will help us learn about effective ways to find cost savings and optimize supply chain processes.
