Excellent and Flexible Airfreight Solution Service

OOCL Logistics, as a world class supply chain service provider, continues to accomplish many customer success stories through very challenging times and unexpected market changes. OOCL Logistics continues to provide customized supply chain solutions for the ever-changing needs of our customers.

Below is a specific airfreight service success story:

In early November 2019, our Russian team received an urgent request for door to door service from a children's garment and toy retailer. The challenge was to deliver toys from Melbourne, Australia to stores in Moscow as early as possible before the New Year Holiday Sale. The first task was to find a charter flight with enough capacity for the needed volumes. This was very difficult due to several carriers rejecting the flight itinerary because of many factors including the strained political environment.

In response, our Australian and Russian colleagues collaborated tirelessly and were able to procure the Antonov 124-100 which an airline had in the Asia Pacific Region. Once an itinerary and price structure were agreed to, an added solution was needed to offset the risk of potential damage to the products due to the non-pressurized cargo cabin. OOCL Logistics, the customer and the airline agreed to a low-level flight at 8,200 metres with the pressure system active, at the agreed cost.

Now that the aircraft and flight plan was successfully secured, the second task was to arrange the cargo for immediate transportation upon arrival at Moscow airport. Pro-actively, our Russian team approached the Moscow airport operator's management for Russian Customs consent to directly load the cargo from the aircraft to the OOCL Logistics trucks without restriction. This would allow an efficient and fast unloading operation at the Moscow airport terminal permitting our customer to deliver the cargo to the distribution center and therefore the stores very quickly.

When the chartered flight landed smoothly at Moscow airport, the OOCL Logistics trucks were waiting on site. Upon inspection, the product was dispatched directly to the warehouse. All the product had arrived undamaged and to the complete satisfaction and appreciation of our customer.

OOCL Logistics success is attributed to the trust, cooperation and open communication with our customers. We proactively maintain a solution-orientated approach and utilize our expertise in logistics.
