OOCL Logistics Ensures Emergency Solution during Coronavirus Outbreak

As the COVID-19 pandemic continues and global governments act to limit the spread of the virus, a lot of countries and regions have been on lockdown. Global is relying on the transport and logistics industry to maintain the delivery of goods, foods and medical supplies, which is a substantial increase in demand. OOCL Logistics, as a professional logistics service provider, is able to meet urgent requests from our customers as well as flexible in the changing world.

Below are specific service success stories during the outbreak of pandemic:

On February 2, OOCL Logistics' Xiamen team scheduled an urgent shipment of 2 million face masks according to customer's request through air freight from Indonesia to Xiamen. Our Indonesia team arranged trucks to pick up the goods at the factory immediately in order to transport them within the urgent time frame.

However, Jakarta's government imposed a stricter restriction on flight control. All direct flights from Jakarta to Xiamen were cancelled. In response to this situation, we suggested to arrange the goods from Jakarta to Xiamen via Hong Kong.

Unfortunately, most of the flights from Jakarta to Hong Kong were overbooked. After negotiation and coordination with related parties, the aircraft smoothly landed at Hong Kong airport.

Finally, the goods were safely delivered to Xiamen by land transport in the afternoon of February 11. The customer expressed a great deal of appreciation and satisfaction.

In another example, OOCL Logistics Vietnam team received a critical air freight shipment request for sending a medical aid shipment from Vietnam's hospital to Japan. The shipment including 500 pieces of face shields and 1,000 disposable sterilized PPE protective suits in order to assist Japan's Medical & Social Welfare Group in the fight against COVID-19.

Our Vietnam team was selected to handle the end-to-end delivery of this air-shipment. To arrange the immediate delivery, our colleagues had successfully cooperated with the airline to get the required space urgently despite the limitation of cargo space and international flights during COVID-19.

On April 24, we quickly picked up the goods from the Hospital on the following day and completed the export customs formalities for the night flight on the same day. The shipment arrived at Kansai international airport in the evening and was delivered to the destination promptly on April 26 and 28 respectively.

There was a great coordination between the OOCL Logistics' regional teams. With excellent teamwork, OOCL Logistics is committed to evaluating every possibility and opportunity.

Provisional Goods Declarations in Philippines

OOCL Logistics often discovers ideal solutions to satisfy and fulfill the demand of various customers around the world. As a world-class logistics service provider, we regularly enhance efficiency in our business processes while anticipating changes and immediately responding to the market trends and new regulations in this changing environment.

The Bureau of Customs Philippines (BOC) has introduced Provisional Goods Declarations (PGD) under Office of the Commissioner (OCOM) Memo No. 61-2020 "Online Filing of Goods Declaration". The Provisional Goods Declaration is an incomplete declaration enabling tentative assessment of duties, taxes and other charges on goods and tentative release of shipments. The necessary information or documents shall be provided within a reasonable timeline.

PGD can be allowed if no regulatory permits/clearances have been presented at the time of lodgment, as long as the importer has filled the application for such permit, clearance or license to regulatory agencies, e.g. prior to the departure of the goods from the country of origin, before or after the arrival of the goods into the Philippines.

The PGD is intended to help importers who are encountering difficulties or troubles in implementing within the shortened seven days period to report a goods declaration and avoid shipment abandonment in Philippines.

OOCL Logistics will continue to monitor the latest update on Provisional Goods Declarations in Philippines. We will devise the ideal solutions that are suitable to the customers' needs and meet the regulatory requirements.

We will continue to comply with the regulatory requirements as well as act with reliability and responsibility toward our customers.
