Vietnam Introduces New Import and Export Duty Exemption Regulations

As a trusted supply chain partner with many global customers, OOCL Logistics takes the responsibility to monitor global market trends. We possess an extensive market knowledge and provide an immediate response to market changes and take action adapting to new challenges.

On 13th March 2021, the Vietnamese Government announced the latest Decree No. 18/2021/ND-CP regulating import and export duties. The new policy focuses on contract manufacturing arrangements and Export Processing Enterprise (EPE).

Originally, only toll manufacturers received benefit from import duty exemption for importing materials that are subcontracted to the local vendors for processing. However, Decree 18 grants the import duty exemption to subcontractors to import necessary materials for completing the subcontracted works, regardless of whether the materials will be entirely or partially processed by domestic subcontractors in Vietnam. As long as the imported materials comply with the contract manufacturing agreement and associated customs procedures, the arrangement for the above duty exemption for subcontractors can be fulfilled. Decree 18 took effect on 25 April 2021.

Under Decree 18, Export Processing Enterprises (EPE) must obey some conditions before enjoying the import duty exemption. EPE are requested to conform to the following new rules:

1. Build physical fences to separate from outside areas
2. Coordinate entrance and exit gateways to manage the flow of all goods
3. Install cameras with 24hour surveillance to watch gate and storage areas and connect the system to the corresponding customs authorities; the image data must be kept for at least 12 months
4. Utilize software to monitor the usage of the duty-exempt imported goods

OOCL Logistics will continue to report on relevant trade policies and logistics-related arrangements to support our partners with the best services creating reliable supply chain solutions.

OOCL Logistics Shows Endless Support to Hong Kong Red Cross

OOCL Logistics sees itself as an integral part of the local community, and we believe our actions do make an influence. With the long pursuit of Community well-being, we actively participate in various public service programs. We had established our partnership with The Hong Kong Red Cross (HKRC) for the 7th straight year. We continuously offer our specialized supply chain management and logistics services to HKRC.

As a well-known humanitarian organization in Hong Kong, HKRC has arranged the annual “Pass-it-On” campaign for 18 years for the purpose of improving the lives of vulnerable people. This fundraising event has continued the theme from last year, “Love and Found”. Showing our love and care to all during the pandemic period is highlighted. Participants can make donations and purchase the charitable items, “Reddie Bear Infinity Backpack” and “Reddie Bear Treasure Bag” which are designed by HKRC.

OOCL Logistics engages in this meaningful campaign providing assistance through offering our expertise in transportation and logistics. By deploying our value-added and delivery services, we accelerated the logistics procedures and operations for the “Pass-It-On” campaign. Based on the order requirements OOCL Logistics provided storage for the charitable items in our warehouse, together with the sorting and repacking services for accurate order fulfillment. Furthermore, we coordinated the delivery of the products to HKRC corporate partners, schools, and individuals for more than 100 orders. We also helped collect more than 60 requested orders from retail shops for the sought-after products.

We would like to show our respect and gratitude to HKRC’s hard work in serving the underprivileged in our society. OOCL Logistics is proud to be a socially responsible corporation, and our teams enjoy providing support to HKRC’s event.
